

God

I have never doubted God since I saw Him

I have never denied God since I knew Him

Whosoever knows himself well knows his Maker

Glory is to be found in serving the Creator; who seeketh it from the creature will never find it

If you love God, tear out your heart's love of the World

My God, how vast is what we behold of Thy creation; yet how small would that look compared with what Thy might conceal.

Fear God; for He heareth all you say, and knoweth all your thoughts.

The fear of God makes one secure [and safe].

Away, away! But for the fear of God, I should be the cunningest of all Arabs

I do not exhort you to obey God before obeying Him myself; I do not forbid you to commit sins that I do not forbid myself

God will bless whoever bridles his propensity to disobedience

The blessing of heaven falls upon whosoever restores truth, kills falsehood, brings tyranny low, and elevates justice.

Unknown